REPORT

The session was organized by the BA Programme Committee of Sri Venkateswara College in association with the Department of Political Science. The Lecture was attended by students from other departments as well. The guest for the event was Prof. Madhavan K Palat, formerly Professor of Russian and European History, JNU & Editor of Selected Works of Jawaharlal Nehru. The session took place on the 19th of January, 2023. There were 118 students at the lecture session.

The purpose of the lecture was to raise awareness among the youth about how the war in Ukraine started and who is responsible. The lecture was chapters unfolding like a story, starting from the beginning of the medieval history of Russia, Prussia, and the Eurasia region, which the speaker explained with a map, and the end chapter being the present day.

The lecture began with Prof. Madhavan Palat opening the map of Ukraine and explaining its history in detail. The Russian invasion of Ukraine seemed to be a topic many were curious to learn about. Many were unaware of Ukraine's connection with the West, the help it was receiving, and the cities that were affected due to the war, which was then talked about in detail. Nor were they fully aware of the different approaches of the western Ukrainians from the eastern. The room filled up with focus and listeners jotting down in their notebooks.

At the end of the lecture, the listeners got their chance to speak their minds and ask questions, to which Prof. Palat answered. The students as well got to share with the speaker their perspective on the current situation in Ukraine. Here are the links for the videos related to the event:
