About The College

The Choice of every student....

The Tirumala Tirupati Devasthanams (TTD) engaged in the management of the sacred hill temple of Lord Sri Venkateswara at Tirupati (Andhra Pradesh) believes that the temple as a place of worship must bring about national integration and, schools and colleges should light up the path of devotion through education and enlightenment. Inspired by its zeal to spread the spiritual values and indian culture, a devout scholar and an active social worker Dr. Durgabai Deshmukh engaged some of the finest thinkers of modern India like Dr. Sarvapalli Radhakrishnan, Dr. C. Anna Rao and Dr. K.L. Rao to establish Sri Venkateswara College at New Delhi under its aegis in 1961.

Located today in Dhaula Kuan and acknowledged as the South Campus's numero uno co-educational college offering a wide-ranging bouquet of up to date study programmes and boasting an enrolment strength rivaling many a small university, it has expanded over the half century adapting dynamically and continually to felt needs and the emerging educational demands of the times. The College imparts high quality education to students through innovative pedagogy and modern training facilities, provides holistic personality development through strong academics coupled with active participation in co-curricular programmes that include fine arts, sports and leadership training. The objective is to develop a sense of ethics and responsibility in students and to broaden their perspectives so that they are able to succeed in today's global, competitive and dynamic environment. The four guiding principles of the doctrine of indian culture, namely, dedication and duty, material well-being for the benefit of society, pleasure of meaningful living and salvation through self-knowledge were meant and remain still the chosen ideals vivifying its branches of arts, humanities and sciences in the college. Unsurprisingly then, it is perceived as a feather in the cap of today's student community to be able to say that they are a "Venkyite" – a popular mantle many aspire to, but only a fraction of the aspirants will ultimately be able to actually claim.

Sri Venkateswara College today has 180 teaching and 250 non-teaching staff members and around 3500 students on its roll. It also offers 10 post-graduate courses for study and provides one year post-graduate diploma course in Molecular and Biochemical technique and a certificate course in German Language.

Coming from North East, I've learned a lot about other cultures here, probably I wouldn't have got to know all these had I not been in the hostel. Lots of good memories earned, from silliest fights to smothering cares, I will cherish it forever. Let me not forget to mention about our caring, wonderful and beautiful warden, Namita mam and Nandita mam and all the hostel mates and counter parts. It has taught me to develop as an individual.

Kime Yallo

It has been a real radiant relaxed reflective resourceful remarkable ride. One of the top most reason I will try to invent time machine, just to live it back. Will ask every one I meet to keep living in a hostel in their bucket list and it will be better if they choose Balaji.

Life outside the classroom

The Fine Arts Association is the cultural fulcrum of the College comprising different Societies like the Western and Indian Music, English and Hindi Dramatics, Choreography, Folk and Western Dance, Film and Photography and the Quiz Society.

At the beginning of new academic session, various societies conduct auditions to select and enroll students as their members. The cultural calendar begins with a series of intra-college competitions that gives students, especially those from First Year, the opportunity to not just compete but also integrate and mingle with other students from the College. In this way they forge important relationships with their peers and also become contributing members of the vibrant community space that the Fine Arts Associations creates at Sri Venkateswara College. Committed to imparting a holistic education, we at Sri Venkateswara College take great pride in both, the academic excellence of our students and also their cultural achievements.

Creating awareness by example

The Annual Inter College Festival, 'NEXUS' is held under the aegis of the Fine Arts Association. Long recognized as a premier cultural festival of Delhi University, 'NEXUS' continues to draw high levels of talent and participation from Colleges and Institutes across Delhi. There are competitions that the different Societies of the Fine Arts organize at Nexus.

The Battle of the Bands and the One Act Theatre events are recent additions to a packed schedule at Nexus. The Fine Arts Association also hosts luminaries from the world of Music and Dance as part of the Cultural evening. In the recent past we have had the privilege of hosting Pentagram, Advaita, Euphoria as well as Sufi groups like the Nizami Brothers and Nizaami Bandhu who have performed to large appreciative audience comprising student, teachers and parents at Nexus.

In NEXUS 2016, Padma Bhushan Dr. Sardya Vaidyanathan was invited as the guest of honour. RAZZMATAZZ (Western Dance), Rock night by RAGHU DIXIT PROJECT, Sufi night by Nizami Brothers were the major crowd pullers. Kailash Kher was the star attraction for the 'STAR NIGHT'.

We have around 35+ events spread over 2 days comprising of events related to dance, music and fine arts. We get participation from all colleges of DU plus IIT, DTU, NSIT and AMITY.

Approximately 2000 students participated in NEXUS 2016. Cash prizes worth Rs 1.8 Lacs plus 1 L in kind were given away to winners.

"Leading Fine Arts Association (FAA) was an exhilarating experience for me. This year's theme was, 'Bollywood - Lights Camera Action' and was the first time ever that SVC FAA was covered by Delhi Times for its innovative marketing style. Having renowned names like Nizami Bandhu (Sufi Night), Raghu Dixit (Rock Night), and Kailash Kher (Star Night) perform this year took Nexus to new heights. FAA this year worked as a family, where all members equally contributed to make 2016-17 a great year. This journey has been a learning experience for me and FAA will always remain close to my heart."

President, FAA
