PROOFS

A game of luck, skill and strategy Here is a game, modelled on stock exchanges the world over, taking you through the main moves of share transactions. The first and only game on the net to capture the excitement of making money on the stock market, and it's fun to play. Many other aspects are also added, which are not commonly used in the real stock market to make the game more interesting, and to give various twists and turns. If you have never known what a share is, and have only wondered how everybody buys shares and makes riches, here is just the game to help you get started. No two games will ever be the same, as you amend your tactics to suit the changing share prices of the companies, depending on the events, which play on for various days. You can play against the smartest of investors and make your millions
