REPORT

Masti ki Pathshala was an educational event organized by Project E1T1 of NSS-SVC for the children of sanjay camp in an effort to foster their interest in various educational and extracurricular activities. This event aimed at fostering different interests of the students, which may not be addressed at school and home due to insufficient time and other reasons. This event aimed to promote both individual talents with the organization of an art display along with problem solving and fine motor skill based games as well as team work with team races. Skills like creativity and expressing oneself were encouraged with NSS-SVC's inhouse jungle role play production and models prepared to explain educational concepts in an interactive way increased the curiosity of many young students. Rewards in the form of candies and final distribution of stationery items gave students a token to remember the event as well the fun they experienced and will hopefully serve as a reminder to interact in school the same way they did at the event.
