REPORT

Financial literacy is a way to promote Financial inclusion. It is making people aware of various financial tools and services which can be utilised for improving their finances. It is closely related to SDGs poverty reduction, economic growth and quality education. In our survey we found that a lot of the people (mostly women) in Sanjay Camp don't even have a bank account. This abates their access to basic financial services.

So to promote the importance and benefits of various financial tools, we invited volunteers from the NGO Leo Club and organized an interactive session for the people of Sanjay Camp. The session dealt with topics like how to open a bank account. What are its benefits? How to not get scammed and protect their savings. Should they take a loan or not? What are the various ways in which they can grow their savings? etc...

The event served a significant number of individuals in taking informed financial decisions. Hence it can be said that the event successfully served its purpose.
