REPORT

NSS-SVC organised a comprehensive Road Safety Awareness Programme in collaboration with PROJECT CHALLANge, an initiative of Rotary Club. It aimed at promoting responsible behaviour among road users and educating students on emergency response, including CPR and basic first aid techniques.

To engage participants effectively, the programme featured a variety of activities. A Nukkad Naatak performed by the team from COHAS (Community of Hope and Support) conveyed critical safety messages in an entertaining format.

Additionally, a hands-on presentation demonstrated essential CPR techniques, equipping students with practical skills. A quiz was conducted to encourage active participation, with prizes awarded for correct answers, further motivating the students. Participants also received a comprehensive guide outlining key traffic rules and signals.

The outcomes of the programme were notable. Students developed a deeper understanding of road safety rules and the risks associated with reckless driving. They gained vital emergency response skills, enhancing their ability to manage potential accidents. Most importantly, the initiative fostered a significant shift in students' attitudes, encouraging them to view road safety as both a personal responsibility and a collective obligation within their community.
