REPORT

As part of NSS Week, Project Pahal organized impactful awareness activities under the Nasha Mukta Bharat Abhiyan, an initiative of the Government of India. The program was conducted in two parts: a Nukkad Natak, performed by NSS volunteers, and a Poster Making Competition for students. The Nukkad Natak focused on highlighting the harsh realities of drug abuse, showing how addiction gradually destroys an individual's health, career, and relationships, while also affecting the larger community. Through a blend of satire, emotional dialogues, and relatable scenarios, the play captured the attention of the audience and encouraged them to reflect on their choices.

The second part of the initiative, the Poster Making Competition, gave students an opportunity to creatively express their thoughts on the theme Nasha Mukta Bharat. Their posters conveyed strong messages against substance abuse, demonstrating the power of art in spreading social awareness. Both activities were met with enthusiastic participation and positive feedback, making the event a success. Overall, the initiative not only spread awareness but also inspired students and community members to take a pledge towards a healthier, addiction-free lifestyle. It reinforced the idea that youth are the torchbearers of change, and through collective effort, the dream of a Nasha Mukta Bharat can be turned into reality.
